

We are proud to introduce you to Pneu Books, a community based program that the Associates of Penn-Air & Hydraulics Corp. have initiated as of September 11th, 2002.

Like many businesses, we were searching for a way to remember those that lost their lives as a result of the tragic events on September 11th. We wanted to remember those individuals and families who lost their sons, daughters, parents and friends.

In recognition of the victims, we are supporting Alexander D. Goode Elementary School by donating books to the school library. This York inner city school is challenged financially and the need for new books is ongoing.

Each one of our 65 Associates over the next 10 months will purchase one new book. The book will be dedicated to one of the victims of United Flight 93 that crashed in Pennsylvania.

In addition to purchasing the book, our Associates will visit the school and read the book. As an extension of the Community Literacy Project, the school has invited us to read to their K through 5th grade classes.

The 30 minute session with the students has been a win-win for both the school and our Associates. The kids have enjoyed meeting our colleagues. They have exposure now to a variety of adults who can help them to better understand what is available to them in our community.

Our Associates have truly enjoyed the interaction and the exchange of ideas. Each Associate links their book with something that the victim was involved with during their life. To share our time with our future leaders is just one way we can help to make a difference.

The Pneu Books program truly brings it all together. For more information on how you can help, please contact us at the address above.
